About the Position

The Outreach officer – Individual Enterprises will play a key role in supporting rural women in launching and expanding sustainable individual microenterprises. This position involves field-based engagement, business planning support, capacity-building interventions, and facilitating access to markets, finance, and technical resources.

Key Responsibilities

- Identify women with entrepreneurial potential and onboard them into the program.
- Facilitate enterprise development trainings focusing on business planning, operations, pricing, and financial literacy.
- Provide individualized mentoring and handholding support for business initiation and growth.
- Assist women entrepreneurs in accessing government schemes, startup capital, and working capital.
- Build linkages with local buyers, input suppliers, financial institutions, and service providers.
- Support market assessments and feasibility studies for various rural enterprise models.
- Coordinate with field teams to ensure follow-up and progress tracking of entrepreneurs.
- Document success stories, challenges, and learning from individual enterprise development.
- Contribute to periodic reports, reviews, and impact assessments related to the intervention.
